SAFER ♥ BRAVER ↑ TOGETHER ✦

JOE TORRE, TOGETHER WITH HIS WIFE ALI, started Safe At Home in 2002 to end the cycle of domestic violence and abuse through education — to create a world where every young person feels, safe, supported, and empowered.

Our groundbreaking Margaret's Place model was named in honor of Joe's mother and creates safe space in schools offering both trauma informed intervention and prevention services. Staffed by a masters-level counselor, we teach every child about respect, how to care for themselves and each other, and how to support friends in need, so that everyone feels safer and braver in Margaret's Place, at home, and wherever they go.

This year, we have reached over 26,000 children, and since our inception, we have directly served over 252,000 young people, their families, schools, and communities.

We're safer, and braver, together.

MARGARET'S PLACE STATISTICS

30 programs in California, New York, Ohio, and Tahiti.

2,638 Individual Counseling Sessions with our master's-level counselors (plus 298 Group Counseling Sessions)*.

26,000 total student participants across all program sites.

93% of counseling students say they feel supported or connected to other students in their counseling group at the end of services.

81% of MP students say they now are more likely to stand up for others.

93% of students say they can differentiate between healthy and unhealthy relationships after Peer Leadership.
